CHILD BRIDESMAIDS.

Dresses Suited to Little Girls Who Act as Bridesmaids.

Bridesmaids' frocks for children are always a little difficult to plan, especially if they are to be worn in conjunction with grown up bridesmaids. Simplicity is, of course, the keynote to be studied. Elaborate styles of making and heavy, rich materials are out of place, and it is best if a bride is to have a long train of attendants of different ages to dress the younger ones who are in the stages of childhood in colors that match or harmonize with the attire of their elder companions, but in materials of a simpler and less expensive kind.

For instance, if the elder bridesmaids wear rich white silk and pale blue satin, the younger ones will look dainty in white silk muslin and pale blue chiffon, and infinitely more picturesque than if they were attired in the richer materials.

To assist readers who have a wedding in prospect are here given two pleasing models carried out in white china silk lined throughout with daffodil colored silk. The first dress, designed for a girl of 8 or 10 years of age, is made with a plain skirt only slightly godet, having all the fullness taken to the back and trimmed with a three inch ruche of yellow. The bodice is composed of daffodil colored mousseline de soie. It is arranged in a series of folds or tucks going crossways from one side of the bodice to the other. The bodice, however, fastens down the center and also under the arm upon the right side. Round the waist is arranged a high and tightly swathed waistband, also in yellow, fastening in front—rather to the right side.

DRESSES FOR CHILD BRIDESMAIDS.
—with a large, soft bow. The sleeves are in white silk, gathered closely from the wrist to the shoulder, where they are finished with a large puff. They come right over the hand and are edged with a ruche of yellow. A hat designed to go with this is a coarse white straw, trimmed with scarf and rosettes of white and yellow chiffon.

The second dress is suitable for the tiny bridesmaid between the age of 4 and 7. It is made simply like a little smock lined with yellow and falling from a yoke cut in deep points of the yellow silk muslin or chiffon. This yoke is entirely gathered, the gathers being arranged lengthways and outlined with a ruche of the same. The sleeves are of silk in two deep puffs, finished at the elbow with a ruche of yellow. If liked, a sash of yellow could be worn with it, tied in a graceful bow upon the left side, with long ends hanging.

With both the dresses bouquets of yellow marguerites with maidenhair fern, tied with long yellow and white ribbons, are carried. The youngest bridesmaid should wear a wreath of the same flowers. Yellow silk stockings and satin shoes of a like hue, ornamented with square silver buckles, would be fitting accompaniments to these frocks. These two designs would serve excellently as party frocks when their first use is over, and would therefore prove economical investments.

An Appropriate Emblem.

The American buffalo exemplifies to the fullest extent the elements of hearty rugged strength in animal life, and the Buffalo Brewery Co. have made a peculiarly appropriate selection of a trademark in choosing this animal to represent its productions, in that the tonic and refreshing properties of the Buffalo Beer promote health and invigorate the system, producing a similar condition of hardy strength in the human frame. The Royal, Cosmopolitan and Pacific saloons are the media of distribution for this famous brew to an appreciative public, and the interchangeable check is the passport at any of these favorite resorts. Drink "Buffalo" only.

A Panic Prevented.

What the consequences might have been if the Palama Grocery had not received another large invoice of the justly celebrated Salvation Army Tea, is something awful to contemplate. When we first advertised it, we expected quite a run on it, but the demand lately has far exceeded our expectations. However, in time to prevent a panic we are in receipt of another large invoice. H. Cannon, sole agent for the Islands. Palama Grocery, Tel. 755.
